

Curriculum Vitae

Jiajun (Albert) Hu
University of Tennessee

Education

Ph.D., Philosophy, University of Tennessee, (In Progress)

M.A., Philosophy, Fudan University, January 2012

B.S., Mechanical Engineering, Shanghai Jiaotong University, July 2005

Areas of Interest

Philosophy of Mind and Action (esp. Free Will), Metaphysics, Ethics, Metaethics

Presentations

“Asymmetry in Responsibility for Omissions: A Reply to Clarke’s Explanation”

- Midsouth Philosophy Conference at Rhodes College, TN (February 2013)
- Joint Meeting of the Indiana Philosophical Association and the North American Kant Society at Indiana University Southeast, IN (March 2013)

“The Essential Point of Frankfurt Cases: Restricted Moral Responsibility”

- PGSA Meeting of the University of Tennessee at Knoxville (November 2013)

“Frankfurt’s Strategy: Bypassing the Dilemma Defense”

- Meeting of the North Carolina Philosophical Society at Chapel Hill (February 2014)

“Why Frankfurt-style Cases Fail to Undermine PAP”

- American Philosophical Association, Pacific Division (April 2014)

“Two Senses of Abilities”

- Florida State University Graduate Philosophy Conference on Free Will, Moral Responsibility, and Agency (September 2014)

Comments On

David Palmer’s “Event Libertarianism and the Disappearing Agent Objection,” at Tennessee Philosophical Association Meeting at Vanderbilt University, TN (November 2012)

Sommer Hodson’s “Personal Responsibility, Punishment, and Personal Identity,” at Midsouth Philosophy Conference at Rhodes College, TN (February 2013)

Teaching Experience

Introduction to Philosophy

Contemporary Moral Problems

History of Early Modern Philosophy

